

ANCIENT WORLD SEMINARS. SEMESTER 2, 2021

26 July	Tamara Lewit The University of Melbourne	History from Below Adult Height: Researching Roman Children and Engaging Children with Romans
2 August	Elizabeth Pemberton LaTrobe University	A Cache of Terracotta Figurines in Corinth: Problems of Style, Iconography, and Function
9 August	Dawn LaValle Norman Australian Catholic University	The Emergence of the Female Voice in Ancient Philosophical Dialogues—from Plato to Augustine
16 August	Frederik Vervaeke The University of Melbourne	Constitutional Innovation during the Second Punic War (218-201 BCE): Some Unintended Consequences
23 August	Tim Murray The University of Melbourne	Archaeological Theory and the History of Australian Archaeology
30 August	Dan Rankin The University of Melbourne	Mice Against Elephants: Sacred Inviolability and the Negotiation of Royal Power in the Early Hellenistic Period
6 September	Robert Turnbull The University of Melbourne	Arabic Translations of 'Caesarean' Texts of the Gospels in the Sinai: New Finds
13 September 6 pm-7 pm (NB Zoom event)	Alexandra Morris Teesside University	Let That Be Your Last Battlefield: Tutankhamun and Disability
27 September	Josephine Verducci The University of Melbourne	Near Eastern Crescent Pendants and the Encoding of Social Memory
4 October	Hyun Jin Kim The University of Melbourne	Were the Greeks Racist?
11 October 6 pm-7 pm (NB Zoom event)	Ben Salisbury University of Birmingham	P. Clodius Pulcher and Public Opinion at a Local Level in the Late Republic
18 October	Rachel Popelka-Filcoff The University of Melbourne	Peering into the Past: Viewing Archaeology Using Analytical Science Approaches

FACULTY OF ARTS

SCHOOL OF HISTORICAL AND PHILOSOPHICAL STUDIES

In second semester 2021 Ancient World Seminars will generally be held on Mondays at 13:00–14:00 pm. We intend that some seminars will be held in person in the Forum Theatre, Arts West Building, and simulcast on Zoom. However, some special events will be held only on Zoom, and the time for these may vary according to time zones.

Meeting details will be emailed to subscribers in the week before each seminar. For further details, or if you want to join the list, feel free to email Andrew Turner at ajturner@unimelb.edu.au

